

Abstract

The present invention comprises a method of implementing state machines between regions in which there are communication delays between the regions.